WASHINGTON, D. C. -- A leaders and received "no unspecial $5.9-billion appropria- favorable response,' tion designed to create up to two million jobs may run the House floor for consideration mid-week of next week.

U. S. House Speaker Carl Albert and Appropriations Committee Chairman George H. Mahon (Dem. - Tex.) in a news conference noted the money would pay for various government programs and purchases already authorized by Congress but never funded.

Albert ventured that the release of the funds would directly create 900,000 new jobs and that indirect effects would likely double this number. Mahon observed that "all but a couple of hundred million dollars" in the total represents additions to the budget of President Ford as it now stands. The consolidated appropria-

Young calls for renewal of 1965 voting Rights Act

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- Congressman Andrew Young, who participated in the voting rights movement in Selma, Alabama, 10 years ago, has called upon Congress to extend and strenghten the Voting Rights Act of 1965 -- the law which was passed because of the voting rights struggle, and is scheduled to expire this year.

In testimony before the House Judiciary Subcommittee on Civil and Constitutional Rights, Congressman Young presented ment which began in Selma. The film records the violence committed against black people attempting to register to vote and against the nonviolent demonstrators seeking to march from Selma to Montgomery. It shows the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., being arrested, the late President Lyndon B. Johnson calling out troops to protect the marchers, Dr. King speaking at a mass rally at the Alabama capitol in Montgomery, signing of the Voting Rights Act, and finally black people

Military aid to Ethiopia is protested by students in U.S.

WASHINGTON -- (NBNS) -Washington was marked by a four-hour demonstration of about 75 Ethiopian and Eritrean students protesting American military support for the Ethiopian government in its fierce battle with Eritrean seccessionist forces.

The chanting students accused Ethiopia of "atrocities of mass genocide on the Eri-

Legislative report

By Representative Julia M. Carson

Last week the House, in spite of its shortened session, managed to approve and sent to the Senate two bills which are desparately needed by some of the less healthy, and less fortunate citizens of the State. Both hemophilia and epilepsy are tragic diseased for which Modern Medicine has still found no cure. Presently, those unfortunate families with members suffering from hemophilia or epilepsy must not only bear the pain and the sorrow, they must also bear the high, often uninanageable, costs of Medical Treatment. These measures will provide treatment centers (through fairly large appropriations approved by this body) so that cost should no longer br prohibitive for these individuals who are in constant need of Medical Attention. The passage of these bills demonstrates the sensitivity and concern of the legislators, a sensitivity too often kep dormant.

U. S. Cabinet post nominee meets challenge cautiously

PHILADELPHIA -- (NBNS)--If he is confirmed, William Thaddeus Coleman, Jr., President Ford's nominee for Secretary of Transportation, will be giving up partnership in the prestigious Philadelphia law firm of Dilworth, Paxson, Kalish, Levy & Coleman, to start a career as a public servant.

But in a career that has been marked by firsts and superlatives, he sports only a 2-1/2 page biography. In a recent interview, Cole-insight into himself.

He moves cautiously -- that rang throughout the interview. During it, Coleman professed "enormous respect" for Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower, said he knew John F. Kennedy "from Harvard days" and "admired him very much," declared "there is no man that I admire more than Lyndon Johnson," and expressed "great admiration" for President Ford (we were together of the Warren Commission you know). But Coleman was careful not to mention the name of Richard Nixon. Asked by reporter Aaron Epstein why not, he said, "Well, you know, I've got to go before the Senate and I don't want to go into that, please."

Coleman was born in 1920 in the Germantown section of Philadelphia. His father, a social worker, earned about $6,000 in his best year.

A brilliant student, Coleman attended Harvard Law School. where he was first in his class, graduating Summa C u m Laude. Elliott L. Richardson, a close friend and former Harvard classmate of Coleman recalled: "Brother, was he sharp!" (Richardson, who resigned as Attorney General after former President Nixon fired Archibald Cox as Watergate Special Prosecutor, is now U. S. Ambassador to England.)

Coleman's law career included work with the Legal Defense Fund of the NAACP. He was one of the authors of the brief that persuaded the Supreme Court mark Brown decision. In his native Philadelphia, he was successful in efforts to integrate Gerard College. He also was in the vangard fighting to erase laws against racial intermarriage, anddefended victims of civil rights sit-in arrests in the South in the early

After law school at Harvard, Coleman became the first black law clerk to a Supreme Court Justice, serving along with Richardson on the staff of the late man reminisced, giving a rare Felix Frankfurter beginning in

He was a part-time consultant to four Presidents. He was a staff lawyer with the Warren Commission, which Investigated the assassination President Kennedy. President Nixon named him to the Price Commission and to U. S. Delegation to the United NationsGeneralAssembly.

But until now he has rejected all permanent job offers from White House. He said he could have been an under secretary or legal adviser to the State Department, that he got two offers of judgeships from President Kennedy, and that President Johnson wanted him to be a judge on a federal appellate court.

He turned them all down, he said, because "I thought it important that the talent I thought I had should be used in the private sector. I though corporations would pay a lot of attention to my recommendations (on civil rights) when they saw me function in things that had nothing to do with race. I could get companies to be more responsible."

Coleman declined to discuss the nature of the transportation changes the President has in mind. He will not be entering a strange area, however. He is considered an expert on Transportation Law. He was attorney and negotiator for the Philadelphia public transit agency and had advised other to outlaw segregation in public cities on transit problems.

Aid for unemployed of city sought in nation's capital

Clarence Hodges has returned from Washington, D. C. where he participated in a National Conference on Inner City Services, and sought additional federal assistance for the poor and unemployed of Indianapolis. Recently, Hodges representing the Office of Human Resources and Mayor Richard Lugar, conducted a public hearing, in cooperation with Citizens' Multi-Service Center and The Model Cities -- CDA Board. to determine the impact of present economic conditions on the inner city. The audience representing numerous social service, religious and community organizations and including unemployed -- underemployed, citizens and senior citizens, called for additional social services and employment assistance, and the removal of unnecessary red tape for existing programs. Hodges carried that message to the mayor and to Washington calling attention to human suffering due to inadequate housing, limited health care, and poor nutrition. Relief is assured in the form of increased local flexibility regarding both CETA and CDA and the continuation of other federally funded projects. Hodges has been invited by Senator Jacob Javists (R-N.Y.) to address the Senate Committee on Poverty and Unemployment. He previously testified before that committee in 1972.

Hook Drugs, Inc. opened its separate social events in the Fort Wayne Country Club on Thursday, March 6. Also, Hook's corporate board of directors held their quarterly meeting at the Fort Wayne Mariott Motor Lodge prior to the celebration. Many of Hook's executives from Indianapolis, will also attended Shirley Cothron, Miss America 1975, made a personal appearance a t the store on Thursday morning. March 6, from 1:30 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Immediately prior to the opening d a y ceremonies, Governor Otis M. Bowen, M.D. visited the store and unveiled a brass plaque in the shape of the State of Indiana, to be placed at the entrance of the store. In part, the inscription reads: . . "blending the rich traditions of our past 75 years with the promise and dedication to caring for the health needs of future generations ... '

Hook's, n o w celebrating its 75th anniversary, operates seven stores in Allen County. They first entered t h e Fort Wayne market with the acquisistion of the Meyer Bros. chain in 1968. Hook's was founded in 1900 by John A. Hook, father of the Company's current board chairman.

Nationally, the company ranks 15th by volume among all drug store chains and is the oldest chain under one continuous successive management. Their sales for 1974 were$120,364,000. Today, Hook's operates stores in 103 communities. They are located in 67 of Indiana's 92 counties.

In 1868, two years before the passage of the 15th Amendment to the Constitution, he tackled the Iowa legislature in a fight for political rights for blacks and succeeded in having the state constitution amended to give black men the right to vote.

The Links have set up the Alexander Clark Memorial Fund at Merchants National Bank here in Cedar Rapids, Iowa 52401. All contributions should be sent there. The funds are needed to move the home to make way for a low-rent housing project and to restore and preserve it.

Hints For Homemakers

The saying that George Washington never told a lie has been around a long time. But I don't have to have been president to be truthful with my readers when I write about Lever Brothers' products-and that's no lie.

WISK AROUND THE COLLAR

Recently, when our son was home on military leave I noticed rings around the collars of his shirts. So one day I decided to remove them by moistening the collars, applying WISK liquid detergent directly to the soiled areas and rubbing it in before placing the shirts in the washing machine. The remainder of the WISK was poured in the washing machine to complete the laundry process. The white shirt he wears with his

Navy dress uniform was very badly soiled, but WISK really did a great job of removing the ring around that collar. My daughter-in-law said to me,

"Mom, I am so glad you told me about WISK when we were married. I just couldn't keep Rick's shirts clean without it.'

LUX LIQUID FOR SMOOTH DISHWASHING

Regardless of how old your children become, they never seem to forget what their parents made them do during their childhood. Till this day, I am reminded that our son had to wash the dishes

It is rewarding to know though that LUX LIQUID made the task more desirable. Not only did it cut the grease and clean the dishes, it also left Rick's hands in such a condition that his friends had no idea that he was the official family dishwasher.

Now that he is the head of his own household, it is interesting to notice that LUX LIQUID is still his favorite dishwashing detergent—and Carolyn's, too.

LUX's mildness is rated tops in both Kaiser households. That's because even after doing the dishes for a full week, your hands still look as soft and as pretty as if they hadn't touched any dishwater at all. That's why we Kaisers call them LUX hands.

Living in San Diego has caused Rick and Carolyn to become lovers of Spanish dishes. They serve them often when they entertain, and always with the assurance that their dishes will be swiftly cleaned while their hands still remain soft and smooth when the party is over, all thanks to LUX LIQUID.

PEPSODENT ALWAYS AT HAND

Speaking of daughters-in-law, Carolyn is a typical wife of less than two years. She likes to watch what I do, and she uses the same products that are found in my household.

When she and her husband returned to California, some tubes of PEPSODENT toothpaste were packed in their bag. Carolyn has become an enthusiastic user because her teeth are beautiful and are always kept their whitest with PEPSODENT. The family teases her about how photogenic she is. On every picture her teeth literally glisten through the photo. Since her husband Rick is in charge of young enlisted men, it is important that he set an example of being well-groomed. His teeth are just about perfect, and the older he gets the more conscious he is of keeping them white. PEPSODENT toothpaste is always on hand in his kit. In fact, as Supply Officer he made sure that he always stocked

Even when he was at sea for six months, there was no need to there was no need to worry about his supply running out. PEPSODENT was always available.

IMPERIAL FLAVOR CAN'T BE BEAT

Another Lever product that has found its place in the Kaiser household in California is IMPERIAL Margarine. Both of them love the taste of this delicious margarine.

Carolyn uses it to season all of their vegetables and it certainly tastes like butter. IMPERIAL offers consumers a choice of three popular forms-regular Stick, Sof-Spread and Diet.

Recently, it was her privilege to prepare a special dish for other Navy officers' wives at a shower It was a real hit!

When asked why it had such a wonderful flavor, her only reply was, "I cook with IMPERIAL."

Cold Control for Sneezin' Season

Back in the Gay Nineties, calves' foot jelly and flax-seed tea ranked high on the list of cold-fighting remedies. While present-day cold care may not be as colorful, it's certainly much more efficient and effective. In this winter sneezin' season, any member of the family can be susceptible to the discomfort and inconvenience of a cold. The best cold remedy-and the only means of preventing the spread of colds—is to follow these common sense rules:

The Science Fair is an exiting and important event for School 86, the children and the science department. Each year boys and girls in grades 4 through 8, interested in science may enter an exhibit in one of two classifications: Biological or Physical Sciences. They may work as a group or individually. Their exhibits were placed on display in the auditorium for the students to see and to be judged by science personnel from Marion College, Eli Lilly, and many other notables here in the Ribbons were given to those exhibits judged as first, second, and third place in creative ability. Those judged as first place have the honor of taking their project to exhibit at the Regional Science Fair at Butler University. Above are the winners of the Science Fair at

MY OPINION I have been asked to write an article on cafeteria food in the Indianapolis Public High Schools. In all fairness the food is not bad as students make it out to be. I feel that some improvements can be made I feel the clam-chowder tastes ridiculous. I wonder if that is why it used to be eleven cents would have sense enough to know that students get tired of mashed potatoes every day. I realize that there are crtain nutritional requirements the cafeteria must fullfill, but

I love your pizzas and sloppy joes. I also like the Pork Fritter Manhattans. The desert department is nice, considering the fact that it is hard to keep food fresh and soft for four periods of the school day.

One thing that worries me is that I heard from sources that if you eat half a hot dog the man at the counter (when you take your tray up) will take the remnants and recycle it for beans and weinners the next day.

I have heard this is true of a bowl. I also think that people the jello also. If this is true, I wonder is this safe. If I am wrong I will apologize to the cafeteria system. If anyone has any questions or information reguarding the above, whether to prove or disprove it please

WINNERS in The Indianapolis Recorder Party Hot Line Contest are Roy Wilkins and Johnnie Walker. ## God's Best For Worse

By Rev. Walter J. Dixon

The root causes of poverty

Man is using every human resources available to wage an all out war against that giant all social ills today. POVERTY. Poverty i s effecting all segments to society to the extent that the life span of this nation will be determined by the efforts of those who are striving hard to slay this fearful Goliah. Many those who are on the front line in this battle believe that the remedy is fortheoming by smothing and strangling poverty with an overflow of money. They believe that this money will enable the victims of poverty to enjoys a more wholesome life by being able to obtain more food, better housing and clothing, ect., life unfortunately this solution will serve only to subsidize the root causes of poverty. They called root causes because they go unnoticed as roots that cannot be seen. But as long as the roots remain intact, the plant of trouble stays firmly imbedded the soil of life. We now turn to the one who is m u c h wiser than we, our Creator God, as we seek the root causes of poverty. I will use the Schofield Bible for all biblical quotes.

THE ROOTS OF DRUNKINESS Proverbs 23:21 tells us the the drunkard shall sorrow?...They that tarry long at wine." Proverb 20:1 tells us that, "?Wine THE ROOT OF ILL -GOTTEN is a ,ocker, strong drink is GAIN raging: and whosoever is de-ceived thereby is not wise." God maked it ever so plain that the drankard is to inherit poverty, sorrow, woe, deception and in the end will not be allowed to enter into the Kinddom of God (1 Corinthians 6:10). This also includes the pill poppers and needle pushers of narcotics as well. THE ROOT OF GLUTTONY Proverb 23:21 tells that the gultton will also come to poverty. Proverb 23:2 states, "And put a knife to thy throat, if thou be a man given to appetite." Proverbs 25:16 says, "Hast thou found honey? Eat as much as is sufficient for thee, lest thou be filled therewith, and vomit The high costs for food is attributable to the sin of overeating which is causing in tthe eating which is causing more deaths than alcohol and narcotics combined. There are many patients in the hospitals today paying exorbitant prices money- wise and pain- wise because of the sin of gluttony. If you want a RAISE in income, then RAISE yourself from the table THE ROOTS OF SLEEPNESS Proverb 6:9-11 asks, "How long wilt thou sleep, O Sluggard? When wilt thou araise out of turtledovers as substitutes. thy sleep? Yet a little sheep, Jesus went without food and of the hands to sleep? so shall thy poverty come like one that traveleth, and thy want like an armed man." Proverb 20:13 states. "Love not sleep, lest thou come to poverty: open thines eyes and thou shalt be satisfied with bread." The last part of Proverbs 23:21 says that, "Drowsiness shall clothe a man with rags." THE ROOT OF SLOTHFUL-NESS(LAZINESS)

God says in Proverb 12:27 that the slothful man is too lazy to even cook the food that is available. Proverb 18:9 declares that. "He also who is slothfull in his work is brother to him that is a great waster." Ecclesiates 10:18 states. "By slothfulness the bulding decayeth , and scriptures that are available ton God's word concerning the slothful man. The

THE ROOT OF STINGINESS God says in Proverb 11:24,25, "There is he that scattereth, and vet increaseth: and there is he that witholdeth more than is fitting but is tendeth shall watered also heinself." In God's economy determined by what you give. If you give little, you will receive little. THE ROOT OF BEING HARD Proverb 13:18 says, "Poverty and shame shall be to him that refuseth instruction, but he that regarded reproof s h a 11 honored." There are certainly many people today who refuse to listen to or accept advice and constructive criticism: this invites poverty to camp at their doors.

THE ROOT OF FOLLOWING AFTER VAIN PERSONS

Proverb 28:19 declares that, "He that tilleth his land shall have plenty of bread, but against following VAIN persons s h all have poverty enough." God advises against following after and imitating those who are conseited and be like someone else, especially those who have the f i n e clothes and long custom Cadillacs and Mark IV's.

Proverb 28:22 reads, "He that hasteneth to be rich hath an evil eye, and considereth not that poverty shall come upon him." There are many in poverty today who once riches through ill -- gotten gain at the expense of others. By making others poor, they too have become poor.

THE ROOT OF POVERTY CAN BE ELIMINATED The roots of poverty can be eliminated if you, who are effected by it, are willing to seek the Counselor that I highly recommend to you. Osaiah 9:6, calls Him, "Wonderful, Coun-selor, The Mightly God, The Everlasting Father, and The Prince of Peace." Jesus is the name of the Counselor of whom I write. 2 Corinthians 8:9 tell us, ".....though He was rich, yet for your sakes He became poor, that ye through His POVERTY might be rich." Yes, Jesus is an expert on poverty. No man ever suffered poverty like Jesus. He was born in a manager in a stable. Jesus' mother, Mary and her husband Joseph, were too poor to offer the lamb sacrifice at the temple for purification but instead had to use a pair of and nights. Jesus said in Luke 9:58, "Foxes have hole and birds have nests, but the Son of Man hath not where to lay his head." Not only did Jesus live poverty but He was also under the condemnation to death which was ever before H i m. Although Jesus is well qualified to be your counselor. He must first become your Saviour and Lord; the poverty of your soul is His

The forgotten world of 'white soul'

The last 15 years have seen a frantic popular music attraction toward the blues traditions of the black American culture.

This was, of course, a long overdue emphasis a latter day acknowledgement of the essential role of the black musical contribution toward various developments of popular-jazz, from 1918 until the 1960's, when "jazz" became specifically identified with black expression, not a figment of white American popular musicians expansive instrumental natures.

Yet in the white community's enthusiasm for black blues, and the black's assertion of their own musical contribution, the American pop-musical culture has lost contact with an essential part of our audio world.

WAYNE COCHRAN the white-country or white-soul, world of music.

Wayne Cochran who is appearing at the Beef' N' Borads, is best described as indescribable, without question among the most significant artists in contemporary American music, perhaps more so because he has not vet scored as a recording performer.

Cochran's ensemble is mas-sive, a multiple reed and brass lines, guitars and percussion, it is always a dozen-voice accompaniment, sometimes more. Cochran sings tough, wraps around the mike stand, squints at his listeners, delights in dancers, snarl lyrics. He's tough, but basically sentimental.

Hearing Wayne Cochran is as important an aspect of your awareness of contemporary American musical culture as listening to Miles Davis, Aretha Franklin or Pharoah Sanders... or Turk Murphy.

In the mid-1950's, she moved to St. Louis with one of her sisters and met her future husband and partner, Ike Turner. "I used to go to a lot of nightclubs with my sister," Tina recalls. "Ike was working at one we used to go to frequently. I used to ask him to let me sing on stage and he'd say, 'okay' but would never call me up. One night he was playing the organ and the drummer put a microphone in front of my sister for her to sing. She said, 'no, not me,' so I took the mike and started singing. When I'd finished the number he called me up. I did several numbers with Ike and the group that night. And later I joined the group." In 1959 Ike wrote a number called "Fool in Love" for a singer who never showed at a recording session. Tina was familiar with the song and since studio facilities had been paid for, she filled in and did the record herself. "Fool in Love" sold a million copies. Ike and Tina Turner's special brand of raw, primitive soul music began to gain international recognition in 1966 when their record "River Deep, Mountain High" was released. Since the, subsequent releases including "Come Together," "Honky Tonk Woman," and "Nut bush City Limits" and their latest, "Sexy Ida," have all been big sellers. At San Francisco's Basin Street West, in Las Vegas, and every place they perform, Ike and Tina Turner always enjoy sell out

The late Janis Joplin once described Tina Turner as "my favorite singer." She will be the favorite singer of many new admirers when they see her in

Consumers' seminar on utility services

scheduled March 21

A seminar on the legal rights of the consumers of utility services will be held by the Com-munity Legal Education Project on Friday, March 21, from 9-12 a.m. at the American Red Cross Basement meeting room, 441 E. 10th Street. The seminar will discuss current utility company rules and regulations and rules of the Public Service Commission. It will also undertake a discussion of more effective advocacy for clients and ways in which utility consumers can obtain redress for their problems. Some representatives of utility com-anies will be present.

The B.T. Express brothers trucking!

B.T. EXPRESS --

who first brought B.T. to the

They came on strong and owerful, just like their name, B.T. Express. Seven musicans from Brroklyn who have used the background of the city's streets and clubs to jump out with a top ten R and B plus a pop hit single in their first

"DO IT 'TILL YOUR SATIS-FIED" got down until it was satisfied, you might say. B.T. Express manager, King Davis, used to promote them as group by the name of the King Davis House Rockers. The heart of that band was Rich Tompson on lead guitar and Bill Risbrook on tenor sax and flute, are now part of the Express.

Rich is a pastors' son from South Carolina who gave up his first instrument the trumpet, because of his neighbors' complaints. He picked up the guitar and found it came a lot easier. No one's complaining now.

Bill was born and raised right in the borough of Brooklyn, an avid sports fanatic. When Bill's not jammin' on his tenor sax, he also finds enough time to pursue a college degree from Manhattan Community College.

In addition to Rich and Bill. King Davis has completed the B. T. Express with a hard core of strong musicians who have wor-ked with everyone from Wilson Pickett to the Rashid All Quin-

Louis Risbrook, Bill's brother, began playing professionally at the old age of 15. With B.T. works on the electric bass, but finds enough time for trumpet playing on the side to teach a drum and bugle corps. The right notes on weekends.

Carolos Ward is an experienced artist on solo flute, alto sax, picolo and clarinet. Just a few of the people he's played with would say he's a Who's Who in Music. The John Coltrane Octet, Don Cherry, Pharoah Sanders, McCoy Tyner, plus many more, including quite a few albums.

Terrell Woods, is the B.T.'s mean drummer, who's also keeping time with some of the groups new songs and future

Barbara Joyce Lomas, the groups only female, comes from Bessemer Alabama Church Choirs, a girl that once recorded the single THREE AT LAST, (The Uptights), and a Day Care Center in Brookly where she also find time to help others.

And last, but not least, is the newest member of the group, Dennis Rowe, on congas, bringing all his Scorpion intensity to bear on the B.T. Express beats.

Dennis also adds some vocal. Needless to say, B. T. Express has come a long way in just the past few months. Besides four name changes (The King Davis House Rockers to The Madison Street Express to Brothers Trucking finally to B.T. EXPRESS.) and a hit single. They're now working on their first album for Scepter/ Road Show Records, produced

This group was brought to Dock Productions' attention by Jeff's wife, Marion Lane. Dock recorded them and Scepter Road Show heard it and the rest

ECC Commissioner blasts public TV's white stand WASHINGTON -- (NBNS)--

Benjamin L. Hooks, the only for its "co black member of the Federal complaint. Communications Commission, jolted the television industry by accusing public television of arrogantly favoring "cultured, white cosmopolities" in its programming and neglecting

He said he had "over the years become increasingly disconcerted with the path taken by educational broadcasting." Then he rapped Public televison which, he said, "without the legal or moral right to do so, has become the Caucasian intellectual's home entertain-

The Commissioner's anger was recorded in a a sevenpage dissenting opinion, as the FCC denied a petition by the Puerto Rican Media Action and Educational Council for the revocation of the broadcast license for WNET, the public station in New York.

Mr. Hooks wrote that the station and public broadcasting had become "an electronic Harvard liberal arts course" that he has foresaken those whose cultural and educational needs far more on a "street academy scale. The Puerto Rican group which was organized to sek equal opportunity in the media, had charged WNET with failing to provide programming on matters of importance to New York's Hispanic community with discriminating aginst Hispanics in its employment practices.

The group also blamed the station for broadcasting only in English, although the Hispanic population in the New York metropolitan area which ds one million

The FCC said in its decision that it had consistently held that stations whose programming is responsive to the needs of the community in general "need not be shown to be response to the particular needs of each individual group within the com-

It added that the petitioning group had not presented enough evidence to persuade the com-mission that WNET discrimited against Hispanics in its aployment policies or that its nming had neglected However, Mr. Hooks praised the Puerto Rican group for its "cognent and important" "WNET's sin, one of arrogance, is to have concentrated its efforts on one minority group, the cultured, white cosmopolities, and too often neg-lected the entertainment of other less fortunate minorities which it has a fundamental duty

The black commissioner said that while his statement was directed to WNET, it was applicable to "the public broadcasting establishment" and other station licensees, as well.

Mr. Hooks offered a suggestion to the station. He said that the station which didn't provide more programs for Hispanics because of lack of funds should try simply supplying capable and interested Hispanics and other minorities with studio space and equipment to allow them to produce their own programs.

The agreement became final today when U.S. District Judge James E. Noland incorporated it in a consent decree terminating a suit filed by Lincoln Park

> The suit, filed in April, 1973, in Indiana's Southern District Court, charged the city and gas and water companies with discrimination by failing to provide Lincoln Park with the services available to the rest of Clarksville.

State law requires a city that annexes territory to provide services comparable to its other areas with similar physical characteristics.

Clarksville annexed Lincoln Park in 1969. While police protection, 'garbage collection, CRS bécame involved in the dispute in December, 1973, upon request of the Indiana Human Relations Commission. Judge Noland deferred court action pending CRS outcome of media-

Jesse Taylor, senior mediator in CRS' Midwest Regional Office in Chicago, conducted the negotiations. He said the case is one of the more complex that CRS has mediated because there were more than two sides involved and because all sides had to accept as accurate the engineering specifications drawn up.
In addition, cost estimates had to be worked out and mechanisms developed to facilitate implementing the agreement, including a plan enabling residents to meet start-up costs. Moreover, all actions agreed to by the utilities companies had to be cleared through the State Public Utilities Commis-

CRS was created by the 1964 Civil Rights Act to resolve disputes stemming from racial and ethnic discrimination. The agency intervenes as mediator when the parties involved feel that negotiation is likely to lead to settling of differences.

Kissick, former head of the Congress on Racial Equality (CORE).

Chicago Mayor Richard Daley did not attend, but he visited with Mr. Muhammad's family in the funeral home the night before and sponsored a resolution in the City Council expressing "deep regret" at his passing.

The procession carrying Mr. Muhammad's body from the funeral home arrived at the temple's entrance five minute before the funeral services were scheduled to start. Leading the cortege was the carrying the body, which was in a gold casket covered with white, yellow and pink flowers. Seven guards of the Fruit of Islam surrounded the second car, which bore Wallace Muhammad, 41, the son of Elijah Muhammad and the new leader of the sect, and his brother, Herbert, who it is believed, will act as the be-

Inside, those attending were directed to a gymnasium where they watched the services over closed-circuit television, while women and dignitaries were di-

There, Mr. Muhammad's casket rested atop a pedestal during the 25 minute service, which began with a declaration to the greatest of Allah.

Mourners stood and faced east, chanting in English and Arabic, after which mint candy was passed out - the passing

Mrs. Geneva Levels, 1211 Linwood, was host to a delicious brunch during Black History Week in honor of Ms. Dorothy Grant of Detroit, Mich. Mrs. Levels invited a few of her intimate friends to enjoy the repast. Ms. Grant is a noted soloist and choir director for the Springhill Baptist Church i n Detroit. A delightful moment was enjoyed as spiritual tapes were played, some of which Ms. Grant has written and composed herself. Mrs. Levels owns and operates the "PRETTY GIRL" Salon o n Olive Street.

The Rev. John M. Caldwell, pastor of Zion Baptist Church, has decided against seeking re-election in the 4th Ward as Democratic c i t y councilman. He has served two four-year terms. He is the city's first black councilman and the only Democrat on the nine-member city council.

Rev. Caldwell cited the time involved with council work in disclosing his decision. The pastor of his church for almost 45 years, the Rev. Mr. Caldwell said the church has been loyal to him while in government work. ("They loaned me to the community, he said). In addition to thanking his church for allowing him to serve in government, he expressed appreciation to his wife, Maude, who has "loaned" her husband to the community for almost eight years.

"I think I have accomplished what I set out to do (on the council) he said. "N o Negro had been able to be elected to public office. With the number of white friends I had, the party leaders, I felt it was the chance to break a pattern. I don't feel like a Negro councilman. I feel like a city councilman and thats the way it ought to be, because I feel if justice and right prevails everybody wins.

"Paul Brown, Democratic Council President, has filed as a candidate for the post. The 27-year-old Brown, a representative of 3rd the District on the county unit, is a marketing representative for International Business Machines. He said he talked to Rev. Caldwell before entering the race.

Elijah Muhammad

In many respects, the life of Elijah Muhammad, the leader of the Nation of Islam for more than 45 years, who died last week at the age of 77, was a life of rich, American irony: He was born the son of slaves, yet rose to reign over an empire with an economic value of at least $80 million by some estimates. He taught a form of Islam that brought him thousands of devoted followers in black American, yet it remains unrecognized by many orthodox followers of Islam. He led a movement that many black Americans scorned for its separatist ideology, yet it has been one of the many effective social and religious organizations the black community has ever witnessed, rivaling all the largest social movements of the 20th century.

Elijah Poole became a convert to Islam in Detroit in 1930. At the time, the Nation of Islam was small and almost unknown, even in that town of its birth. Over the next 40 years, he built it into an organization that now owns banks, cattle ranches, schools, bakeries and the largest circulating black newspaper in the country. Even though its financial assests are in the million, its major asset has been its people. The devotion of the Black Muslims, as they are called, to the cause of the 'Nation' has had a profound impact on black Americans whose solidarity has been impressive. There, the Muslim religion has been responsible for the conversion to productive lives of hundreds of convicts. Among those converted to the Muslim faith in the jails was Malcolm X, first follower and later a rival of Muham-

Because the Nation of Islam insists on the theory that all whites are "devils", the followers of Islam in the Middle East and elsewhere spurn this group. Yet, its teachings of race hatred have diminished considerably in recent years. Where once the focus was on confronta tion with white society, it has more recently emphasized the importance of black self-help and the development of profitable enterprises.

All through the years since it began, the Black Muslim movement has attempted to be a parallel structure to American society, its emphasis always on the notion that blacks should reley only upon their own resources. And, despite the oddities of its ideology, the result has been that there is one organization in the black American community that commands the attention of the least fortunate. Muhammad worked among that class of blacks that very few other leaders have been able to make into fervent

What will become of that movement in the years ahead is impossible to guess, but that is should have achieved what is has achieved is a remarkable story in itself. And, Elijah Muhammad made those achievements in a country that has changed in his lifetime, just as he and the muslims did.

Unfairness of Revenue Sharing

Although Revenue Sharing is not a bad concept, its mechanism for assuring fairness to minorities and the poor is NOT working effectively.

For example, there are only four full-time civil rights compliance officers in 39,000 jurisdictions to monitor the program against discrimination. And these jurisdictions are sharing in a $30.2 billion tax rebate to them from the Federal Government over a five year period-- 972-76. There is expected to be $40 billion for the next five years. Yet the safeguards are not functioning meaningfully.

The National Newspaper Publishers Association got a first-hand look at the system and its failings a few weeks ago when it, the NAACP, the National Urban Coalition and nearly 30 other national organizations were invited to Washington to examine new program proposals and make any needed recommendations.

What the representatives of the organizations were presented was mostly a fait accompli frozen in beaurocratic proceduralism. The suggestions offered by he group have little chance of adoption, Office of Revenue Sharing officials explained, because Washington doesn't want to appear to be dictating to the state and local governments regarding their expenditure of the allocated funds.

ORS takes this stand in the face even of Civil Rights Commission charges of discrimination in employment and in the delivery of benefits to minorities and the poor. The commission also points to negligence on the part of ORS in staffing and funding its civil rights compliance program.

Another complaint of the commission and of black and liberal organizations is that the Office of Revenue Sharing refuses to suspend assistance to government units where substantial evidence of noncompliance is on the record. Instead, it insists on waiting until a final determination is However, a precedent for change has been set by a federal court which ordered million of dollars in revenuing sharing whithheld from the city of Chicago which discriminated against blacks in the police department.

The commission recommends that Congress appropriate $7.5 million to employ 300 additional ORS compliance review personnel. Obviously, this should be done. What can you do to help it along? You can write your congressman and your Senator and your governor and mayor and demand assurance that minorities and the poor get a fair

WILL THE BLACK COMMUNITY PROTECT ITS SENIOR CITIZENS?

70 Be Equal

VERNON E. JORDAN JR. Executive Director

Seniority vs. affirmative action

Who will be laid off? That's a question on a lot of people's minds these days as the economy continues to deteriorate and unemployment continues to climb.

It's also a question that could be an explosive one, deepening the already troublesome fissures in our society.

And it is a question of immediate significance to emplovers, unions, minority employees, federal officials and the courts, because of the conflicting claims of seniority and affirmative action.

Most large employers are bound by union contracts that say layoffs must be in order of seniority -- first hired, last They are also bound the law, in this case the Civil Rights Act of 1964, which forbids discriminatory employment practices.

It was due to this law that many blacks, women and minorities got their first crack at previously reserved for white males. To make up for past discrimination, many companies have agreed with federal authorities to undertake affirmative action programs designed to increase the numbers of minority employees.

Now a recession-struck company is caught in a dilemma: who to lay off? If they lay off older white workers, they violate seniority provisions of their union contracts. If they lay off blacks who have less seniority thanks to the earlier refusal to hire, the company reverts back to fts lily-white work force and violates affirmative action agreements with the government, as well as the Civil Rights Act.

I will be celebrating my 90th birthday, April 7, 1975. I want to congratulate you and your staff on your move to your new nome. Your newspaper has rendered wonderful service for many years. workers of both races who face layoffs in a job market that offers no opportunity for alternative employment. They are already some signs of deepening racial bitterness as some workers are victims of layoffs that don't affect the other race as much. If this situation continues, we would see a lethal combination of racial conflict and economic hardship, an ex-

Several cases have already come before the courts, but with contradictory rulings. In one case, the court ruled that a company could not lay off its black workers because such action would perpetuate the effects of past discrimination. another case, the judge ruled that the seniority system should predominate and it's just too bad if that works disproportionate hardship on black workers. Ultimately, these and other cases will come before the Supreme Court which may hand down a definitive ruling that sets clear guidlines for employers. But by then it may be too late -- and there is always the chance that this Court will issue a ruling tha rebuilds the discriminatory walls that excluded black people from equal employment opportuni-of intent, cannot be maintained if they operate to 'freeze' the status quo of prior discriminatory employment practices..."

I read that to mean the "neutral" operation of a seniority system that operates to freeze blacks into a lasthired, first fired situation, has to give way to the higher conflicting right of continued black employment opportunity.

Managers, workers, and government officials ought to recognize that the ultimate solution lies not with the courts but with adoption of enlightened policies that share the burdens of this sick economy. If a company is in such bad straits as to have to lay off workers. there are ways to spread the effects.

Some include sharing the work with everyone working a. shorter week to avert layoffs; "skip-week" plans in which workers take turns being laid off; voluntary layoffs for workers with seniority in companies whose jobless benefits almost cover their take home pay anyway; rotating periods of unemployment for all with guaranteed rehiring; incentive for early retirement, and federal tax incentices for companies to keep up fringe benefits in shared work plans.

All of these and others ought to be considered and steps taken to insure that this recession does not lead to total disaster

Poor more likely victims of crime

The poor in America have a higher unemployment rate, greater incidence of hunger, malnutrition and disease than their more affluent counterparts. To the long list of problems of the poor, has been added one more. Recent federal crime statistics indicate that poor people are more likely to be victims of violent crime such victims of violent crime such as rape, robbery and assualty, than those persons with money.

According to the survey, both whites and blacks from families earning below $7,500 a year "had the higher rates of violent victimizations" the and idpersons with higher incomes.

Blacks have special gift for predictions

Dear Andrew, Did you dig the result of my prediction regarding the mayor's recent decision not to seek a third term -- a prediction made back in December? And to think Jean Dixon and all the rest of them get big money for what The Recorder does for free.

Some people might say black citizens have a special gift, and in a way that is true. Black citizens have traditionally been able to forecast coming events, and with great accuracy. The only trouble is the rest of the community refuses to listen. But then who really wants to listen to "Black" or gloomy forecasts when one only wants to hear what is "rosey" or white forecasts. Let me give you some examples:

Black citizens have known for a long time we were in a recession and heading for a depression. We didn't have to go through a lot of changes looking at charts or banking figures. All we had to do was to look at our own neighborhoods. We could see the young people mics of our system works, we forthcoming recession and depression by what was happening to us--and we can predict this before any of these high paid economists. It is simple. We mental officals, including hart..literally and physically. several Presidents, and Con-

Another prediction I could make gressmen, Now the White Citiwould be that unemployment of blacks citizens will continue to rise in 1975, while the unemployment rate for the white sector begins to go down, but that's too easy.

Another instance would be almost eight years ago when many black citizens, such as Dr. King, Dick Gregory and others were complaining that they were being spied on by the F.B.I. and other governmental units. I can still remember the uproar over that. Many black citizens accepted t h e spying stories as a fact of life. But there were too many black citizens believing, as did most of the white community, that it just couldn't be true. I can remember many of the white citizens saying that it just couldn't be so...why would the government do things like that. It just couldn't be, but it was so. So now we see that the government was not only spying on black citizens, but everybody else who didn't, or might not, agree with them. That spying bit got good to them standing around with nothing to. and they started keeping files do. We noticed the absence of on everyone. Remember those new cars in the neighborhoods, then impossible ugly, rumors Because of the way the econo-about the President's bedtime reading being the sex life of could accurately predict the prominent black leaders? Well, with the revelations in recent weeks with the admission that the spying was done--and even files were kept on high governzens are getting worried. They should have been worried eight years ago when black citizens, were screaming.

And then there were the black-out-cry against South Africa. Remember h ow the Pentagon and the State Department backed down? How they talked about national security? Black citizens were demanding we break diplomatic relationships with South Africa, But most whites were saying something about "not being worth it". That was because only black citizens were involved. But now we find the Arab nations demanding the same sanctions against Jewish citizens and firms, everybody is getting upset. NOW they are getting upset. It's simple. When black citizens predict injustices, everybody turns their head. But when it starts affecting other segments of America. a great cry of outrageous unjust arises. All they have to do is listen to black citizens and they can predict what is going to happen because it is happening to black Citizens

It sure wish Black Citizens would stop being predictable in their voting habits, that would really upset the man. Sincerely Yours,

P.S. "Lets be unpredictable in the primary elections -- don't forget the School Board election

> The papers' documentation of Young's tenure as executive director of the Ilrhan League from 1961 until his death 10 years later is particularly significant for Columbia because of the historic tie between the University and the Urban League. The concept for the establishment of the League in 1911 came from faculty members and students of the New York School of Philanthropy, predecessor of Columbia's School of Social Work. Among these individuals were Dr. Edward T. De

National Black News Service Jackson State's basketball team, ranked No. 2 nationally in the Associated Press college division poll, will accept an invitation to the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics playoffs, but will withdraw if a bid to the prestigious National Invitation Tournament is forthcoming. "To be perfectly honest about it, we all want to go to the N.I.T.," said the Tigers' coach, Paul Covington. "But we don't want to be in a position where we won't go anywhere at all."

Jackson State's dilemma is threefold -- it can go to any of three tournaments. They have already turned down one invitation to play in the National Collegiate Athletic Association college division playoffs. They can play in the NAIA regional playoffs, the winners of which go to the national finals in Kansas City, or the can hope for an invitation to the NIT-a tourney that rarely invites small colleges. The problem is however, that NIT bids are not offered until March 9, six days after the NAIA playoffs

"I don't talk to them about basketball,' he said. "I try to tell them a little bit about life. My principal theme is that before fixing goals for themselves, they should first learn themselves.

"They must realize that they are an identity, that they are important and that they need not bow to anyone so long as they live their lives to the best of their ability."

He perfers serious talk to young people to the conventional star relationships, such as signing autographs, which he refuses to do.

"Autographs are so imper-sonal," he said. "normally, the person asking for an autograph does it as a matter of course, never looking you in the eye. The feeling is that as soon as he gets it he might toss it away."

NAACP joins pledge on bicentennial shootings WASHINGTON--(NBNS) ----The Justice Department has closed its books on the 1972 shooting deaths of two black students at the predominantly black Southern University in Baton Rouge, La., without any indictments ever having been handed down.

Assistant Attorney General J. Stanley Pottinger, head of the Department's Civil Rights Division, met for six days in May, 1974, in Baton Rouge without returning indictments.

"Since that time." he said. "evidence from all the investigations have been painstakingly evaluated by the Civil Rights Division to determine whether indictments could be sought.

"However, after all leads had been fully investigated." Pottinger said, prosecutors concluded that sufficient evidence could not be developed to determine whether "any specific individual had violated the federal criminal civil rights statutes.

year. As a result, the business leader, who is also a leading philanthropist, conferred with people of various fields about making this period in the nation"s history meaningful.

The text of the document appeard in Time and Newweek magazines in the March 3rd issue. The "Declaration" has also appear ed in full-page ads in some 40 newspapers throughout the country.

Th e nation's three major television station w i 1 1 also broadcast t h e "Declaration" over their networks and affiliates, which invite community leaders to view the closed circuit telecasts.

T h e "Declaration" states that Americans are today "called upon to maintain and improve the system of governemt that was created 200 years ago and to "Fulfill those principles in world growing increasingly interdependent."

There is an urgent need for achievement at every level in American soci ety, the document states. It notes that, following the Declaration of Independence on July 4, 1776, it took 13 years fo r the Constitution to be drafted and adopt-

Consequently, the modernday signers off the Bicentennial Declaration felt that the period between 1976 and 1989 was "a realistic period f o r thoughminded planning and accomplishment."

Extend voting rights Act

WASHINGTON -- (NBNS) --Arthur S. Flemmoig, chairman of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission last week called for the extension of the Voting Rights Act of 1965 for another 10 years because discrimination still exists in the electorial process.

In testimony before a House Judiciary subcommittee holding hearings on legislation that would extend the 1965 Act through 1985. Flemming said: "Resistance to minority participation has abated but it has not been eradicated. Discrimination continues to impede the exercise of minority voting made these comments upon learning that the Compliance Review Board voted to reverse a'dicision made during the Democrats mini- convention held last Demeber inKansa City. The reverssed decision by the CRC involved Article X of the Democratic charter regarding the question of full participation by minorities in all party af-

Dr. Lucas labeled this position, "Dangerous--especially at a time when the growing tendency is for Blacks to become independent of either Party." He called for an unprecedented need for America the educational process, the to contiune a strong two-party system and cited the critical need f o r the involvemnt of Blacks within both major political parties.
